

Easy access both from shore connected by existing bridge and water.

One of the building volumes has an acute-angled form facing west to dissipate strong wind towards east